7. DATASET OVERVIEW

7.1 Abstract

Huong river basin belongs to Thua Thien Hue province in coastal of the Central Viet Nam. Huong river system contains 3 main rivers: Ta Trach, Huu Trach and Bo River. Huong River is short and steep runs from mountain to the low plain area. Time of concentration is short and river basin has low storage capacity. Floods and inundation often occur very quickly and severely.

7.3 Temporal Extent

Begin Date	2004-01-01
End Date	2008-12-31
Temporal Characteristics	Recorded interval is In dry season the stations will report 2 times/day at 7:00 and 19:00 or 4 times/day at 1,7,13,19 only in normal situation. Sometimes in flood (up to water level rising amplitude at the station), heavy rainfall (>30mm/24h), cold front situations etc. they will report more frequent(less than 6 hours (every 4, 3, 2 or 1 hour), In wet season - 4 times/day (it means only 6-hourly rainfall), In flood situation only - 1-hourly observations.
